

Dear Allan,

I am lost for words. I am not sure what else can be said that hasn't been said. My family was extremely happy and content when we arrived in Glen Abbey 12 years ago. Quality of life was second to none, and we were very proud to call "Oakville" our home. The will for expansion (to this day I still do not understand why) has quickly dissipated this pride and quality of life. Our beautiful parks are no longer maintained, and now were forging ahead with expanding the sewage treatment plant (by 660% ?). Forging ahead I may say with very little research that can predict the impact of this proposed expansion. All of this so that local governments can "support expansion", something that is not supported by this community. All I ask is that the hard working tax paying members of this community be recognized and acknowledged. After all, isn't this what democracy is all about. Communities are people, and the people should be part of this process. Being part is more than just being heard, its incorporating their input in the evolution of the community.
